PRESIDENT'S WELCOME

DEBORAH ALTHOFF WILL, PRESIDENT

I'm optimistic about the upcoming school year, even though I see the obstacles before me. How can I maintain my positive spirit in the face of the challenges our profession is facing? I can remain hopeful because I've seen the work of the 2022 Conference Committee. I can see the strength in the collaborative spirit on this committee, and this positivity is reflected in the incredible conference they have planned at Tinley Park on November 3-5.

The challenges of being a school librarian have grown exponentially within the last few years. Our profession has faced funding cuts, (continued next page)

(continued from previous page) staffing shortages, increased responsibilities and intellectual freedom challenges. When faced with situations that boggle my mind and pierce my spirit, the professional network I have found with AISLE renews my commitment to my students and to my school library.

This year's conference committee has worked tirelessly to provide the best possible professional development for school library educators. The vision of Conference 2022 has been clear from the beginning: to provide each attendee with a professional development opportunity that provides them the tools and support they need to be successful in their schools. This vision has been at the forefront of every decision made during our conference planning. The outstanding conference chairs, Joanna Marek and Christine Cannata, developed the conference theme months ago, identifying core values and centering sessions and speakers around our theme: Advocate. Collaborate. Teach.

Each time I've had the privilege of meeting with members of our planning committee, they have shown insight and genuine care for one another and for the professionals they hope to serve at this year's conference. Every detail has been examined through the lens of how our organization can support members attending this conference.

Every member of the Conference 2022 Planning Committee deserves special recognition for stepping up to serve our organization at a time when asking anyone to do "one more thing" was more than a small favor to ask. Every member of this team is an exceptional librarian whose commitment to one another, to our organization, and to our profession is inspiring.

We hope that you will join us at this event in Tinley Park on November 3-5, 2022. At a time when school librarians need support from one another the most, I hope you will take the time to surround yourself with the positive energy, enthusiasm, commitment and kindness that this conference promises to bring us all.

A WELCOME FROM THE CONFERENCE CO-CHAIRS

Advocate, Collaborate, and Teach. These are the core values of a school library media specialist.

Through celebrating the successes of the school library, making collection choices that support the learning community, purchasing comfortable seating to excite readers to sit and stay for a few minutes in the library, and speaking out to stress the importance of school librarians for all schools, we advocate for the position and the students we serve.

By saying “yes,” seeking resources, thinking outside the box, partnering with the greater school community, and investing in technology and digital literacy tools, we collaborate for a stronger, more diverse, and inquiry-based library program.

When we have a strong knowledge of the curriculum, when we seek out the cross-curricular connections, when we co-teach with a student-centered approach, and when we model lifelong learning, thinking, reading, and problem-solving, we teach to ensure that our students are prepared for the jobs they will have when they grow up, some of which do not yet exist.

ACT - COLLABORATE - TEACH

This special issue of the AISLE Advocate highlights the professional development opportunities available at the AISLE A.C.T. Conference at Tinley Park Conference Center, November 3-5, 2022. Our planning committee has worked for well over a year to create a professional development experience that will inspire, stretch, strengthen, and motivate you. The work of a school librarian is vitally important. The skills we bring to the school learning environment add value to the student learning experience.

Through curated sessions about information literacy, collection development, advocacy, budgeting, and curriculum, this conference will provide you with a variety of learning experiences that are unique to school librarians. In addition to sessions led by our Illinois school library colleagues, we also welcome authors to the conference including Jennifer Lynn Barnes, Kelly Yang, and Dan Gemeinhart, to name a few.

The AISLE A.C.T. Conference will also Affirm, Celebrate, and Thank school librarians. Day in and day out, we work to support the learning community in our schools and beyond. We are stronger when we work together and when we collectively support school library programs in Illinois.

We invite you to share this issue of AISLE Advocate far and wide with your colleagues both in and out of the school library. Saturday's programming is specifically designed with collaboration in mind. Bring a colleague or two from your district, public library system, or professional network.

Visit <https://bit.ly/aisleact> regularly to see conference announcements and updates. Follow along on AISLE's social media accounts for more information.

We welcome you to our AISLE A.C.T. Conference and look forward to learning with you.

TEACH

ACT: ACQUIRE COMICS TODAY! T

Mariela Siegert & Mary Hart

Middle School, High School

Not sure how to start your comics collection for your library? Comics, such as Batman or Avengers seem to be difficult to find, track, and catalog. Learn about comics and how they differ from graphic novels, how to keep track of storyline runs, catalog for ease of student use, and get information on what is coming out in the future.

BEST BOOKS FOR MIDDLE SCHOOL T

Jonathan Hunt

Middle School

Join Jonathan Hunt, Coordinator of Library Media Services at the San Diego County Office of Education, reviewer for Horn Book, and contributor to School Library Journal, as he leads participants in an examination of the best books published recently for middle school aged readers. Participants will leave the session with a robust collection of featured titles and ideas.

BEYOND BINS: RETHINKING ELEMENTARY LIBRARY ORGANIZATION T

Kelly Jahng

Elementary School

Genrefying, Ditching Dewey, Browsing Bins, and Book Neighborhoods...what should we make of it all? How do we create kid-friendly spaces while making sure our students learn library skills that transfer beyond the walls of our schools? Hear about the ways in which I've transformed sections of my own library including categorizing picture books, genrefying fiction, creating purposeful early reader sections, and simplifying Dewey. Learn about helpful tools to make the work easier, and begin planning your own transformation.

LIBRARIAN FOR MULTIPLE SCHOOLS C

Dawn Brunschon, Don Hamerly, Megan Rasmussen

All Grades

Do you manage more than one school? Join us as we dig into our world of juggling multiple campuses, library assistants, administrators, budgets and expectations. In this session we will share our daily struggles, what's working, thoughts to make improvements in our situations, and a community of support.

OPTIMIZING GROUPS THROUGH PLAY C

Jeanné Aken

All Grades

We all work in teams and want our students to work well in groups together. In this hands-on workshop you will experience several activities that highlight some typical team pitfalls, and how to begin to move teams you are on and teams you lead to better functioning. This team-building workshop moves beyond icebreakers to truly build highly effective teams. You will leave with several experiences that you can take with you!

SCHOOL LIBRARY BOOK CHALLENGES C

ALA Office of Intellectual Freedom

All Grades

A representative from the American Library Association Office for Intellectual Freedom will share an overview of challenges taking place for school librarians and educators, strategies for navigating a challenge, and practical scenarios for walking through a potential materials challenge at your school.

USING CANVA FOR ADVOCACY & INSTRUCTION IN YOUR SCHOOL LIBRARY A

Eric Bodwell

All Grades

Learn to use Canva, a free and easy to use web app, to design advocacy and instructional materials for your school library program. In this hands-on session, you will learn and apply research backed graphic design and learning principles to make ready to use materials for your program.

BEST BOOKS FOR ELEMENTARY T

John Schumaker

Middle School, High School

Join Mr. Schu, author of This Is A School and The Gift of Story: Exploring the Affective Side of the Reading Life and renowned advocate for children's books, as he shares recommended books for elementary age readers.

BEST BOOKS FOR HIGH SCHOOL T

Jonathan Hunt

High School

Join Jonathan Hunt, Coordinator of Library Media Services at the San Diego County Office of Education, reviewer for Horn Book, and contributor to School Library Journal, as he leads participants in an examination of the best books published recently for high school readers. Participants will leave the session with a robust collection of featured titles and ideas.

COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS WITH EMPOWERED READERS C

Stephanie Walker and Lissa Blake

Elementary School

Please join us to dive deeper into ideas we have found to reach all learners and empower student readers. These tools will not only boost energy and excitement around learning, but also engage the entire school community with some special projects! We will work together to spark ideas, share best practices and how to apply these ideas in either a K-2 or 3-5 level. We will focus on how to reinvent your research with virtual reality, connect with your whole school community with fun school projects, and learn about some great cross curricular tech tools!

GAMING IN LIBRARIES T

Rebecca Strang

All Grades

Educators will learn about the importance of play and benefits of tabletop games, as well as receive resources and example lesson plans that can be implemented in the library and/or classroom.

LET LEARNING GROW WITH STEM, BOOKS, AND AGRICULTURE C

Kevin Daugherty and Chris Wyant

All Grades

Illinois Agriculture in the Classroom has a nationwide reputation for connecting great books about agriculture with content area classrooms and teachers at all grade levels. Join the IAIC team as they share bushels of STEM lessons and activities that pair with some of their favorite new books. This interactive and lively session will leave attendees with acres of book recommendations, lesson ideas, and bulletin board themes to engage students during their next library visit.

SCHOOL LIBRARY BOOK CHALLENGES C

ALA Office of Intellectual Freedom

All Grades

A representative from the American Library Association Office for Intellectual Freedom will share an overview of challenges taking place for school librarians and educators, strategies for navigating a challenge, and practical scenarios for walking through a potential materials challenge at your school.
